The galaxy of ecstasy

domilla

Presented by My poetic Side

Dedication

To those who look up the stars and see the beauty that surrounds them

-Suzy Kassem.

Acknowledgement

Thank you to those that stood by me and evoked the purest emotions that led to me writing every single piece .

I love what I have

I have you and that is what matters

About the author

Her writings illuminate the journey of her life. In a moment they explicitly point to love . Love of family and friends. The love that moves her to feel and want to express it more through writing. Her ambition to be a writer someday has always been with her since childhood. To one day share her story with the rest of the world

summary

Star struck ?

Tales by moonlight

Timeless affair

Unwavering love

My fine wine

Smooth sailing

Star in the nights sky

Miss sunshine

She feels like summer

I will carry you with me

Hold on to you

My antidote

A walking dream

Nostalgic

Method to my madness

Moonstruck?

A culprit of love

Stay

Loco

Tempest now rage in your love I will be safe

My dilemma; to love or not to love

In your hearts of hearts

I bade adieu to my love

Under the moonlight

Moonlight?s spell

Domilla and 22

Ghosted

The fragile dream

A letter to my soulmate

At my wits end

If I could

Correction facility

Burned out

Roses have thorns

Star struck ?

The brightest evening I should say
The same was with daylight Never a dull moment moment when you are around Everything in its essence purely bright
The feels Like stars twinkling in my tiny universe.
That I am star struck is quite a delight
The stars Looking out for me Embracing me with their warmth
As I gaze up from below
I look up with a smile Everything suites my fancy
It's enchanting beauty is one I wish to never escape Never want to be out of reach That we will never part is a truth that matters To lose sight of you would land me in despair
For the essence of what is truth I will hold on to you Seeking the purest of friendship Longing for an endless love
That you have me in your heart is all that matters Recounting each moment lived Bringing to mind memories of great felicity Leaning on each other for comfort and peace Making each moment beautiful That we have each other is all that matters To Fight through each storm Fearing nothing except losing each other

Tales by moonlight

Thought misfortune is all I was left with
And there she was Like the stars aligned in my favor Nothing was far more lovely than what we came to have Everything in perfection
In that little moment , I could spot this huge smile on my face

It's the tales by moonlight Story after story
The sweet company of a companion telling tales encompassing the cold silence bringing forth warmth that was a missing What we may not have is time If it could atleast slow down no matter how hypnotic a story may be, it eventually comes to an end

By chance if I could make a wish as selfish as it could be Seeing the normalcy of everyone encountering loss
I wish to not face the same fate
For you to be the exception Never to part.
Like tales by moonlight you were my happy ending A forever with you is what I wish for and what I will continue to fight for.

Timeless affair

My heart continuously sweeps in your being It Thrives on the sombre ecstatic love that only you give We are Apparently two but with one soul Like Two hearts in sync with thoughts intertwined
Our love is timeless
And I will luxuriantly indulge it A Love that frees me from pain Pain that is only there for a moment To depart in a moment when reminded that I am loved and deserving of all except misery
With you I have a taste of a real smile and jollity Little by little you became my world
It's not a dream
I'm flying in ecstasy
Not an illusion either I found my home and fated mate Ingnited by a promise to stand beside each other As we are Patient we shall be on our way to forever Even when my life falls apart
I know that I have you From Dusk to dusk
Even When clouds shake and darkness falls over With dimmed teary eyes I turn to you For You are my light, a whole galaxy That illuminates the ruins that wish for my downfall She's like whole galaxy that drives me to ecstasy Drawing me back to my lucid state Completing me
Even when we fall silent
The loss of touch is not an end
But the beginning of a greater love
A love that realizes that I am a being lost without you In Moments apart I know no peace Always the missing piece

This lacuna making my days dull and heart heavy Lonely and miserable
My existence has had no better gift than that of our friendship In your absence, I feel downhearted my life In existence but not existing You are my village, where I do belong where peace and calmness do reside In You, whose love Keeps me still In You , who has willed my heart to steer no where else
Only to reside next to yours Since You are irreplaceable my forever love my home

Unwavering love

My mothers love, unwavering a love woven of a thousand strands made of iron later forged into steel Of enormous quality and always constant Painting a picture of a strong bond Like that of a quantum entanglement, an unbreakable correlation

A love like roots
That stretches far down could be even deeper than the ocean Providing anchorage, holding me still Propelling me to greater heights to stand tall and proud Providing strength to overcome anything As the roots dictate who we become I want to be like you mama

A love like rain That brings forth blessings Flowers growing and blooming Leaves turning green , the world beautiful The rain being that it is seasonal This love in its uniqueness over pours year round , unending Unique that I wish I could drown in its torrents Sink down to the ground Swallow its warmth and surround myself in this beautiful enigma Then scream I love you mama
I want to drown in your love

My fine wine

Like fine wine you are quite the rare, mature, endearing so filled with quality.
Packed with layers of complexity and such finesse;
a stunning delicacy,
An asset worth investment Investment of my time and being For the longest of time, Seemingly so since we were acquainted Our friendship, maturing and each day, always finer than before

Ours is a forever at a magnitude, Which can never amount to anything With similarly refined taste as pure and precious as gold

Our brand of love, unique and beautiful
I will always crave to be by your side Just as i am hooked to you like glue
The possibility to sever the ties that bind us is unimaginable I could be in pain or in distress but when around, my somber mood turns to delight.
In a moment , I am grinning like a fool who knew no pain
I see joy and feel at peace Nothing can compare to the worth you possess.
I hold you in the same regard with the deepest love and affection
I promise to never leave and always stay true to what I feel The deep, lingering taste of your essence is something I will always need. you are my forever
my fine wine
to mubanga loongo

Smooth sailing

Your love bore through my heart nothing save for your kindness and affection every act not a single one too small I got fond of your presence And your mesmerizing essence with more than adoration, I stood in awe your warm smile puts my mind at ease You tell the best stories that never fail to appease humuring me most to the highest degree I find solace in your sweet company solemnly resolved to choose to love you and keep you close I am smooth sailing when i am around you never to drift away as the ocean is indeed deep and wide so does your love stretch deep and wide I am smooth sailing in your love that continuously flows your love the anchor that keeps me still if I were to drown I would be happy still Delighting to drown in your love liking the deep and wide ocean that glows and glitters like a galaxy of stars as you put the wind in my sails so shall I dive deep to be wrapped up and confounded in your immense love

Star in the nights sky

Forgive me if It looks like I don't care It's because I care that I did what I do It's because of care that I say what I say Forgive me if my mind is set on looking at only what's best for you When you mind is set on only seeing pain Without any sense of reason I'm that light you need in the dark Your star in the nights sky
That friend pent on driving out the demons that hunt you To rid of the poison set on causing damage
The poison that clouds your judgment Even when you may not see it in the now My eyes are wide open trying to keep the window of hope open Open for you to to see what I see If I do make the wrong choice Forgive me as it is your life
Your life is your life
But my love lives to only love you It's a love that dares me love your life Forgive me if it's my bad habit
But is my love a bad habit
A love that sees different possibilities
A love that leaves me working double time Even when your eyes fail my remain wide open Even when your hope is lost or broken
I know my love will help restore what seems lost Shadowing all that leaves you vulnerable and alarmed for it is my dear promise to shield you to never at all be harmed

Miss sunshine

She feels like the sun Always never leaving room for gloom
Her brightness and radiance have such a stricking appeal An awe-inspiring spirit to keep you close is a desire of mine A friend I'm proud to have With you shadows of blues are never lurking My smile is never far away Your energy and light bring such warmth Chasing the scary cold
The day could end
You slowly say your goodbye Reluctant to let you go I whisper tomorrow yeah?
With a gentle smile you agree.
And soon the stars are glittering Moon lucent in the background Signaling hope that it will never get dark That we will never part
The day next brighter than the previous

She feels like summer

She feels like summer
An intriguing warmth surrounds her essence She's a warm kind hearted soul, her kind heart is sweet, sweet like the moonlight sleeping on hills
The recollection of every moment spent arouses joy

She feels like summer
Her smile alone draws me in A sense of stillness engulfs me as I listen to every word said Every story told Amazed at how inclined my ears are, always eager to hear more Much so when she sings her voice is so sweet sweet like the exquisite peace that she alone provides, It's fine melody captivating, incomparable to anything She's beautiful like the sunshine of day Just like summer the feeling of being at ease never leaves And just Like the seas in summer time Sparkly and enchanting never at all giving in single drops but in bountiful waves

The same with the great sun so generous with its heat and so is she with everything she has Her warm heart can never be cold It burns bright, encouraging love to unfold

I will carry you with me

Every step I take
I will carry you with me.
Through life's joys, sorrows and pain
I will carry you with me.
You are more than enough .

The one Person I will run to when life takes a turn.
To comfort me with a warm embrace And bring a smile to my face
You are my raisons d'être

I will carry you with me
Life without happiness lacks purpose Joy springs out when i am with you
The tears run far to hide and never to emanate

I will always carry you with me You give me strength to live on Enough to face the hurdles that come my way to never at all be claimed by the dark My fears leave and not at any time emerge

The little bubble created by our friendship is the most beautiful place, A place I will always run to.
A place with so much love , trust and support Encompassed by beautiful memories that will never fade
to mubanga loongo

Hold on to you

I will hold on to you To never at all let go your kind eyes drew me in Your sweet smile pulled me closer The allure of your modesty put a hold on me Making simplicity a grace,
You embody kindness to the finest level , Exemplifying the very essence of what it means to shower love,
It would be foolish to let you you go

I will hold on to every laughter
The kind that is long -lived Your happiness is mine to share
I will hold on to every snivel
The kind that is short -lived Your pain being mine to bare I will hold on to every conversation
The kind that is deep rooted in my being Our stories are ours to cherish

I will forever hold on to you Hold on to the friendship we have Hold on to every moment and beautiful memories made even of those yet to come

I will forever hold on to you Hold on to the the one I trust most Hold on to the friend I love most I will hold on to you till I can't no more

My antidote

I suffer loss
My identity slowly crumbling to dust life playing it's wicked games playing the right tricks right off its sleeves the circus trick had me thinking thinking I had the upper hand Only to leave me feeling used my ego utterly bruised
I suffer loss loss of the girl I used to be the best parts of me exiled to a point of no return Life's tricks the bane of of my life
My head heavy, bloated with so much anxiety Weighing me down relentlessly as lightning on my brain My desire being to just live life but life itself thinks perfect to have me be a clown Heavily designed in disguise what beauty is there to life when it's two faced the deadly part of it keeps me captive in its unending misery needing to spread its venom in my veins You are my antidote
I always want you near me
 To help me find my way back to some semblance of normality in my life your love is my antidote
It is enough to dilute this harsh life I live Modifying its complexities into finer pieces
It's a path I cannot tread alone
If not cautioned right I would be swallowing poisons of self doubt and fear continuously be tricked and trapped And slowly succumb to drowning in the wells that wish that I disappear

I am relatively weak it's a fight I can't do all on my own
your love is my antidote

It is enough to quell the fears deep rooted in my core Enough to quell the poisonous thoughts that desire see me lose myself
your love is my antidote
It is enough to be able bear it all and just live life

A walking dream

You are a walking dream
A need that most dream to have So rare and richer akin to that of a blue diamond You are queen with a heart of gold that most could never have Like a beautiful dream I would never want it to end I would never want you to leave I desire to slumber for as long as I can For as long as you would stay I desire to watch you grown and live forever as long as you can On July 23 is the day we celebrate your Birth I desire for more of these for as long as they can Could i compare you to a rose You are queen of the garden you stand out amongst all Amongst all you are a delight
You adorn the world with so much beauty Your brilliance unfathomable Far much richer and greater than a chest of the rare blue diamond
And I love you

Nostalgic

Filled with solemn thoughts they hint on recovering memories of old Of a life so sweet pure in each proven line Enchanted with innocence we were babes yet to be shoved into an abyss some nostalgia I have
We were stuck like glue but even with time it deteriorates
We were stuck like magnets but even with time it inevitably degrades do thoughts of me ever come to mind Some nostalgia I have My mind is stuck reminiscing

The days when my fortune was made
The good friends worth more than gold There was no farewell ever said We just slipped into silence. slowly lost touch hopefully we were made for another day. Despite the time apart to one day talk and laugh like we once did I'm feeling nostalgic
My mind is stuck reminiscing.
The completeness I felt when you were near. The serenity your company brought I am only left with fond memories.
memories that will always be a part of me
We might be running a different race But all roads must meet at one end hoping to one day meet at one turn

Method to my madness

Piece by piece I unravel every emotion Hidden in view of the fact that my lips are muted You could never hear me talk hope you listen as I write As My broken and unbroken feels blend I scribble down every detail
My spirit growing wilder Enlisting the lot line after line Speaking of promises I mean to keep Professing a love I feel in deep Talking of a pain I wish to not keep inside as I weep
But I hope you listen as I write I get scared to talk always in a fright Man kind the cause of this tough bind For a moment they judge Neglect and reject
There is no other way Except for the words I inscribe
The things meant and wish to say

Moonstruck?

Is it that I have no where to go ?
I do but you will always be home to me My safe haven , there's no place I rather be

Is it that I am a fool In sooth I am but a fool madly in love mon amour , there's no other man I would rather be with

Is it that I am dreaming
I dare not hope so Even when drenched in this lunacy called love the pleasure I get is surreal
I dare not think so My mind , body and soul intertwined with yours could never be just a dream But reality I relive in my dreams
A reality I wish to be endless

A culprit of love

She picked up the last piece
Of what was left of her heart Wanting it for herself having given it day and night And time after time they departed Taking pieces of it with them saw her go out of her mind out of her mind with grief

The baggage of paranoia she had to carry lay too heavy Pushing her to cowardly swerve from love i saw her live with worry, anxiety and fear doubting every word said Since her heart and mind were broken the hurt was more than she could bear they encouraged love they meant to break and carelessly she did love, a bad result it gave The ruins of what was left of her heart, was then shackled with chains and pledged to guard them with all her might a voice echoes in her head

"I must not fall in love again"
The chains like a rune carved on her crusted heart She Wondered if she could paint them with hues of yellow to mean serenity and happiness Or have them rose- hued to mean inspiration and hope The hope that she shall no longer be a culprit of love
But a lover full of love Thoughtless of what was once lost and broken

The hope that she shall no longer be a prisoner of love
But a warrior whose heart shall bloom from the hurt With freedom to go where her love is

Stay

Don't dare leave don't dare leave me Leave me broken and dead inside Dead but alive outside Alive but bleeding inside Bleeding and quite hurt inside
I wish to never see the day when the hurt will leave scars Scars i wish to pay no mind
The inevitable rite of passage In a world where savagery is a usual norm
I dare hope I manage To love again despite all the damage

Loco

One moment I'm falling hard and fast Its now clear that I am the fool in love uncertain of where my sanity was seen last my heart was his to have

His looks had me smitten and obsessed I knew better than to succumb to his charm my senses dulled , since wholly consumed by thoughts of him Thoughts of his kisses and sweet caress
 I can't help but love him
He made me go loco
A shame that he had to be so cold
So it might end on a sour note Since Having no luck by my side
I rather not lose myself to love Caving in to him who makes my thoughts run wild, whose touch drives me off my head But my passionate self is absolutely absorbed by the thought of loving him my mind stuck dreaming not only did he invade my soul He also hijacked my heart enthralled by the idea of love again Since every fiber of my being feels drawn to him I struggle to escape this euphoric grave I perhaps dug for myself don't make me go loco my composure is lost when we are closer every action put into question Enslaved by love, he was my captor
I seem to do it on a whim, Blame my very stubborn heart Blame the gentle persuasion and cajolery like bait that set me up in this trap somewhat fixated on doing anything to have him look at me, to have him long for me, wishing to be locked in a loving embrace, and have me cling to him to not at any moment leave his side I can only wish that we could be tied When too far from me I go loco

Tempest now rage in your love I will be safe

I was made for you Entrusted with a task to care for me I Had a part to play as God intended To care for you , be your shelter Even when the winter cold sway, clothe thee with warmth safe from the freezing cold On hot summers day, Shield thee from the scorching heat to not burn
My mind set on loving you Your fondness and irresistible charm the cause of my undoing
I gave without thought The Chances of me fading away soon lying ahead chances of me being sane close to none
The tempest tossed My normal senses swallowed up by dark pools of unyielding flames
A punchline of a cruel joke
I am left to rot in the misery of your own cause When All I did was care for you In return I got cruelty
My life trapped and replaced with utter chaos
The Promises said with high vigor soon blurred out of line Besieged by the fiercest agonies Vexed with so much rage
I felt the temperature rising
The muddling rage ensuing mayhem In seasons when I meant to smile like rays of sunshine I cried instead The seasons of silence were met with an uproar
 My emotions and thoughts like tempests raging Your swift - shifting antics bearing a shock
When I put my chances all on you I over dosed on the promises of love That only turned out to be a cruel joke
At what cost

To only be miserable and dejected after your wretched indifference Left to rot in the misery of your own cause Not mindful of the troubles stirred up The woeful affair stirring up a storm Give in to love to subdue the storm tossed waves Love more likely the only remedy Perhaps if you be more kinder Keep me safe from this muddling rage
I don't want to simply fade Perhaps if you take a chance on me Fight for a life where we both live harmoniously As time is in a rush, we only have now we being fated let me not fade And sorrow your soon to be mate
My hope that your own follies be not in effect
If you could Learn to be wise To not die in misery by your own hand

My dilemma; to love or not to love

To love or not to love my current critical dilemma
A doting lover stuck among wolves A sufferer for the cause, when the hearts desire was;
To not feel empty but full with love,
To not feel alone but wanted and needed
The marks of the appalling torture I have had to go through, arousing interest to slip from this mortal coil and finally end the torment
The piercing dull aches, the crushing sensations Went through hell and back Delirious following the insolence of those I had to fall for Lacking the care I needed
The idea of possibility opposing the mere thought of love And conquer my own heart with self love
The only sane thought in mind
The rest scream at me, thinking of only death
The victors song of no love carved deep inside Since getting sick of all the vouchers Become a warrior whose roots are built off shame and pain since pain nourishes courage summon whatever of it is present and move forward the ultimate goal Sickening that it might not be so A doting lover quite the fool Never knowing when to pick up the sword and fight Never knowing to think for itself that enough is enough
The puzzling nonchalance coming through Love once again making a fool of most of us Seemingly loving being victims of torture time and time again

In your hearts of hearts

I beg you to Speak the unspoken Calm the fears your silence has awoken my own thoughts have me confined and in sad cages thinking it's one of those stages where I get heartbroken since I haven't felt your love in ages

I beg you to Quell the fears you have awoken tell me that we will never part That I am your forever love
In your hearts of hearts, does your love still burn
You were to love me endlessly in return The sad thoughts consume my heart with grief leaving me shaken
I need your words to give me some relief That we can fix this is my belief how could I have everything but still feel like I have nothing Like I am slowly losing you must we drift away these thoughts I wish to push them far away Then will I have the peace of mind I deeply need Since they mock me as they are stuck on replay Leaving me alarmed since you are silent and as calm as the eye of the storm

Suppose we fall apart, how shall I survive I'm left dazed as these muddled thoughts cloud my mind Lucid is what I wish my mind could be A peace of mind is what I wish I could have since the lies I invented

I bade adieu to my love

I bade adieu to my love
My heart couldn't take the pain,
My all I did give but all in vain

Being indifferent to solitude
i couldn't be so anymore Decisions to rather lose it all than let him go 'twas time to leave them behind
I stand with a heart so broken, Dread sitting heavily on my chest

Being indifferent to sheer delectation
i couldn't be so anymore Decisions to rather stay than let him go Twas time to not settle for pleasure so temporal I stand with my intellect so feeble All energy spent to tell my self to breath since forgetting how to live hunted by thoughts of him Our story hunting me day and night Remarkably forbearing at first glance Undoubtedly loving and caring at first meet Unfortunately turning wild soonest than I ever thought attention and love then ebbing away With no warning signs he receded from view

The air now feeling like sharp blades ripping my heart apart
And there I stood facing a clown with my visage
The reality check needed, to remember the good in goodbye

Under the moonlight

Is it selfish to ask If you could lay aside another night
A night under the moonlight
The caress of the winter breeze making me shiver My flesh creeping yearning to get close to you with lust stronger than a storm.
muscles quacking with anticipation of what could happen under the moonlight Full of desire to have you quench the flames within

Your intoxicating scent drawing me in Body itching to get an inch closer and bask in it You lured me in with your touch.
My eyes mesmerized by your smile Driven by longing to have our lips dance under the moonlit sky

You then pulled me close Leaving me breathless Leaving no room for a sigh only moans of pleasure Unimpressed by the thought of liquor
The taste of it on your tongue was of no bother
The sweetness of his lips so addictive dulling my senses
All I wanted then was to savor its taste all night long

The sweet memory of it all stuck on replay in my mind Driven by longing for more I then ask if you could lay aside another night

Moonlight?s spell

At the beginning everything is beautiful Everything is quite pleasing Not even a thought of an end He knew the right words to say, he asked for friendship and I thought it was right

My mind miles far from thoughts he harbored in mind
As they were innocent If not for him being kind i would not have taken notice
He never failed to call me beautiful That a single gaze would have him lose control, and that he wished I was his He had me swooned his words were nice

Slowly he piqued my interest and got a hold on me Coaxed me out of the barriers made That were firmly set of which gradually fell,
He kept me full and entertained Then I started to yearn for his love
It was thrilling , it was nice

I didn't want any nostalgia
I didn't want to robbed of my sleep
He was on my mind and won my heart Had no reminder of where I last left my sanity, When our lips would touch I lost more of it must have been the moonlight and it's spell since it was clear and very bright under the moonlight we were as thick as thieves only stealing kisses whichever way we could Overwhelmed with pleasure, I wanted more of which he gave

He made me love the nightfall And kept me full, it was his lips I had dined he had me fooled , wish I was wise i clumsily let my love love him a consequence of my blind trust It was never nice when we slowly lost touch Then later did I feel relief In that beginning friendship was what I sought for Then later caught me and had me trapped it was brief but somewhat nice

Domilla and 22

Another great year, lucky to have lived Recapping every moment as far as I can recall and down I wrote the domilla and 22 tale Calling to mind the greatest and least moments lived. and the blissful memories made

January of new beginnings Realized that I needed to be kinder to myself wanted the woo me kind of love the kind of hot pursuit that causes shivers down your spine I somewhat hungered for it but feared that genuine affection being not a thing of these days.
loyalty , love and respect a thing of the past To master to not fall too hard or not fall at all.
 a trait I needed to acquire And to choose self above all else

February had me cleaning up messes,
A mess that had become of my life, Regain at-least some dignity lost, chasing a love that wasn't mine Needing to pity me Since losing everything beneath and behind My worth and peace of mind
I had feelings to unpack a debt an owed myself Unload the phantoms from memory and grasp reality
To not live in fantasies Later did I feel much peace.

March full of woes without shame taught me a lesson to never forget Without shame I was captivated by wacky words that had me swooning

Honeyed words said with such eloquence that had me in a haze
The captivating smiles that had me drifting around in a daze
I dived in headfirst.
The outcome being either pleasure or pain
I later found myself alone A route took to forget an old flame assuming that there is plenty of fish in the sea Having the right bet hoping to catch a Molly quite shocked it was moray eel instead

April promised growth to bounce back and be girl I used to be hopeful and resilient Wanting to bloom and flourish forget the pain but forge strength from the pain and finally live my life right like the dandelion , learn to thrive despite circumstances

May had me setting sails
I was at sea very far from land
No one could tell that I was sinking
I shut down
Held on to things I thought I needed to stay afloat they only sank me further stricken with horror
I shut down ran away from the life I knew took time off to reflect and review i made a choice then to surround myself with what will only hold me steady June was paradise earth Met a captain, he was my captain Destination la la land
A thrilling experience is what June promised We talked for hours
Could barely let the phone out of sight.

Mocked myself for being a goner
He was death to me An imperfect perfect match Tried to Cement relations bound to last The distance didn't bare any effect
I turned , kicked and grinned days on end Came close to packing a bag and running to him i knew better to never not all rob myself a chance to pursue that which made me smile

The july of surprises wiped the tears I shed for far too long, relieved the agonies i have had to carry for years till july domilla and 22 the stars were finally smiling at me buoyancy a trait that summed up the caliber of one who unfortunately was met with circumstances that stripped off her courage due to fate that lay a burden far too great

August was just august What I had desired and yearned for months on end finally in my sight feet intertwined and everything in between our lips touching and kisses energizing me to no end When face to face I had a chance to satisfy my appetite Looked at me like he was staring right into my soul exuded an aura that completely captivated me his presence giving a sense of euphoria I had a good laugh
I had a good time he had the touch of a wizard his kisses flowing like magic potions Like the magic of the elixir in effect i couldn't help but fall in love he had me in a trance that I was mesmerized like a ghost in the wind I disappeared And I put my feelings to sleep september had me looking forward to extra hours to spend with her

Since the time spent in her company purely delightful straight from the heart I wish to confess
A fact most true
She is a million times worth of my love Every second spent loving and thinking of her worth the effort it is how she makes every moment worthwhile Not merely a friend but a piece of heaven been star struck since day one I stopped to look back and could only admire how far we've come My fated soul mate, and I could only hope that we could go on I have no intentions to ever leave your side
All I know is that you are half of my Soul
A part of me I will forever carry with me You being the greatest love I have ever had

October was October
I turned a year older met a handsome fellow ignorance is bliss he said Finding pleasure in mistakes made And living life to the fullest a paradise he swore to give , to always be there whenever needed

November bore shocks I was never expecting after atleast having a touch of reality since closing a very painful chapter i was foolish and delicate then i couldn't be swayed now since I knowing my worth a Fool is what I chose to not be.
when the one who hurt me most wanted me back in his life his audacity demanded that I sever ties he thought were left it did me good to take another look and forget the love I had which he forsook lonesome December felt like I was missing something surrounded but I still felt alone i thought I was tough Behind the smiles was a different emotion I was crumbling inside the question of whether I lived a good year lingering at the back of my mind in all honesty it was better some days just felt a bit too much I lived the best and worst days

But I know the best soon yet to come Hoping to live yet another great year to write again in 365 days and call it domilla and 23

Ghosted

When the wooing frenzy is past Their affection can never last His attention never did last left Like I meant nothing and it hurt But Each time, they do return
He plead for mercy and I forgave Allowed that we rewaken what had started Though I did hesitate, since i saw it's end before anything could begin again Thought his betrayal make my trust worse yet he promised to do right by me Promised to be better

"I'm sorry dee, it was all me You didn't play a play a part in in me leaving" Threw in some worthy verse and owned up to his failings Through the same, trust was regained I believed the lines he fed His honesty admirable, not everyday is truth told Said his apologies and was so bold Never did I guess such an approach It was precise and well composed

Then we got back in motion Heard my heart beat faster without caution Every glance though subtle,
I was on fire , full of lust
His voice did leave me in a trance Smothered me with breathless kisses,
The Immeasurable sweet pleasure amusing Stuck to his promise to make everything worth my while.
I grinned and my legs kicked at the dead of the night brimming with excitement since he was perfect

Have my heart, is what I said and my biggest regret since he's now slipped away silence is all that greets me with a sickening note

That I have been deceived yet again

Said he's the absent friend that goes silent like the night

Forgive me this for I can't change

Memories of what was said allowed some faith to sweep in,

Said that he was here to stay

I wonder if I cross his mind he crossed his heart saying he won't dare leave

And I wait to see if he could fulfill what he made me believe

But he stays silent

Rather than face dilemmas

I would rather he say, he failed me yet again

I hope it's not a game that he had plotted

Since his truth I gladly did embrace trusted that he is what he said he was, a big mess who is rather uncertain

I wish that he had stayed away

Since I sold my peace for a song took a leap of faith and he made me believe that we had bonded

And In no way did I ask for such torment

When Love was all I wanted

The kind that grows fonder with the passing of the seasons.

This much love I did crave

The fragile dream

Where did the good ones go
When the rest toss me too and fro Slowly turning my heart into stone I still come out strong. I'll say I do I'll say I do, I survived like a thousand times. Though Mortally hurt, Better to move on than hold on to pain
It hurts but love is still beautiful To Die a little but still survive is still beautiful I want my heart in motion To be completely besotted and in love so much so that It flutters so wildly

I fuss over needing at-least one good one Me being all that he can see, and to love me still despite my flaws.
To have Curious feelings swim through me,
The sudden rush, the dopamine effect Is the dream I yearn for.
An old soul like i am could understand what I'm running for An intense love filled with romance

There might be no good ones left The generation way too cursed.
The deep meaningful connections, lacking It forgot how to love the deep feelings unregarded, they are only full of arrogance We are all trapped by an awful fate since the labour of love is lost They forget that to fully live life is to forget self, by surviving on high hopes and faith

They form "no attachments relationships"Could those be called relationships?
Without the love , to count on the other infeasible Entanglements now a fine sport, the " it's complicated".
Chivalry could not dead

They have no desire to break the status quo taking away my illusion, leaving me frustrated.

the dream to finally meet my intended

Relying on a change of heart a dead end,

Since they are stuck in their ways.

There could atleast be one hidden gem

I shall count on my dream to keep me sheltered, and my hope to give me power to want to hold on and dream on despite it being a fragile dream.

A letter to my soulmate

I wish to share the darkest secrets that my heart holds and with it the story of the journey I have had Tell you why I am a mess, and why my heart is so cold i have nothing to hide, nothing to hold back And if I do tell the tale, I hope you have my back blame the grand pursuit of love which almost turned my heart black it always ended in tears we were never good for each other And the loss was good But I never lost hope even when discouraged by my fears I knew you were a better lover And all the loss would be somewhat worth it when I get to earn my peace when I get to have you close

I was the easy prey
I dig a vibe and just want to roll with it Without much thought since I just want to flow with it it was never easy , When you were away it was you I longed for every day it was you I looked for in every man it was you I loved in every dream.
I got tired but the loneliness was great when it was you I wanted day after day

I was never careful and so my heart is in pieces which I hope you will pick beneath this load of pain the love for love still remains if I don't give it a chance, then we might not meet I still wonder why you delay
They think I am a good game to play Only you know that I deserve good and to be loved That is why i want to give you what is left of me i hope you treasure it , it's all I have

At my wits end

I was at my wits end life need not be this unkind My dreams far better than the reality lived Like a shell left by the receding tide , I felt alone Like the receding tide I withdrew myself from the crowded shore
It was peace I needed some quiet to silence my troubled mind

I was at a loss life need not be this cruel broken by unfulfilled dreams , wrecked by Ill fate like I was drowning in a deep troubled sea. each night I would hope to rise through the torrents Taking each step tentatively.
Unsure of my future

I was helpless
The peace I got was through the pages of a paperback novel Lost in a fantasy whose future more pleasant, having a happy ending mine being far from reach The stories drew me in Chapter after chapter , numbing my pain

I was at my wits end
Only one thing remained hope Since At a wits end corner is where Gods power is shown Though helpless but I lay in the hollow of Gods hands hands that couldn't let me go.

If I could

If I could
I could be the most successful person Since the sky is the limit i could follow my dreams, live the life always wanted
I can possibly do all Things
I can build a new life forgetting the dear ones that passed But I cannot
I can never
But could I?
Faced with difficult choices Faced with insurmountable problems Could I overcome it all My ambitions are left to rot in the dust
My addictions can never leave me My body cannot even survive the harsh struggle
A new dawn they say An opportunity to rise again
An opportunity to right the wrongs
To rise above the challenge
I step up Envision new dreams
Engineer new plans
The mind full of hope now helplessly, patiently waiting for a preferable sequel Only to fall back
The beautiful dream now withered on the vine Like a broken glass it can't be fixed Afraid that I might bleed I choose to stall too scared to pick myself up Afraid to hurt more I press pause
My life now hanging in the balance But I think I can atleast learn to be stronger Let the fear fear my faith

The faith that I could do all things through Christ who gives me strength

Correction facility

Questions of what I could have perhaps done wrong awakes echoes in my head
A mind boggling affair
Thoughts entangling with one another So deeply that I'm afraid I'm losing my mind
It could be my addictions Or perhaps my culpable nature I'm caught up In a prison of sin
In a prison of my addictions
It feels like I'm in a correction facility
My life stagnant I can't move
I need redemption
I need a savior
I could make plans to change my disposition Only for fate to draw its sword and tear up my dreams and aspirations Was being birthed and living still my crime That I am detained in a cell of misery and loneliness Was me being human a crime Was I a mistake Perfection being not an attribute that I hold I think myself as unlucky Like nothing ever goes well for me
A mind boggling affair
A never ending battle
I could look tranquil and content
My mind certainly in despair I shed more tears than you could Thoughts entangling with one another perhaps ensue a fate that would end it all If it's meant to break me and make me Spare me some atleast a fraction of the pain It's a nightmare I can't bare

Burned out

A million thoughts roaming in my mind Wondering what it took to sink this far My experience decidedly worse than my expectations
My reality invariably imbued with bitterness My then filled with bliss Everything I wanted and needed right at my fingertips My now not something I envisioned Everything I want and need now far from reach If only I could be tossed in a ditch To maybe die or maybe a time switch

I lie puzzled, thoughts after thought Why am I so unlucky?
Who cast this curse?
It's simply fate taking its course A journey I am meant to walk

I am bone- tired of this curse the thoughts that consume me, indeed massive The pressure way too high, I'm falling apart like a fallen star I am burned out family and friends like are pulling at me like gravity but I'm fed up I am Bone-weary of living
My luck that seems to be asleep, I plead if it could be awoken
If it be a curse I plead if if it could be broken
If it be simply fate I plead for clemency
I am bone- tired of this pain
I just want to be happy
I am hurting so deeply Plans fail , they are dreams anyway Dreams I planned to carry out I only hope that it will all lead to some turning point it can't rain ceaselessly

Someday at some point the sun will come out and shine immensely

Roses have thorns

beautiful are roses but roses have thorns
The enigma of why life is the way it is As it appears to be lurching from one crisis to the next Denying us the peace we deserve the plethora of unpleasantness , that overcome us in a single moment is undeniably cruel to some with contradicting feelings, that leave us unsure of how to proceed with life how to go on when life unexpectedly flips upside down emptiness is all that is left when it spins out of control too helpless and tired to face it all the unlovely part of life being the source of my sorrow All I do is cry and let the tears flow They claim that the heart always knows That apparently it knows what's right it's at this moment that they are completely wrong but ending my life too is not at all right Even when the agony is too unbearable heaven only knows why and how roses bloom, then they wither even when pruned they still thrive to blossom again, it is fine to fade aphids too may come but in time they vanish the rose then goes on but I'm no rose, I'm human a human with no strength to just go on Even though rain must fall it's of no help drowning in my sorrow when I can shield myself The greatness within enough to remember to live because I can to stop and allow nature to give hope build resilience to confront the uncertain future the murky sky, the rocky hills,

the slippery slopes, the life that suddenly changes in the blink of an eye