Acknowledgement

Mr. Lustman,

You have always eased my spirit with your music through the trials and tribulations that I have encountered and I thank you greatly for providing such great vibes to rock with. Sometimes when I would be confused about things going on in my life I would just sit back and listen to your songs: Be Alright, Fight No More and Hardest Breakup Ever. Your words in all of your songs are always so positive and have replaced any negative words that were and are spoken to me. When mean things are said to me I would stand still and remember your lyrics repeating a couple of verses in my mind along with Bible Verses that reflect patients remaining silent which has helped me through. I am so thankful and feel blessed to have been introduced to your music and it will always stick with me. Thank you so much for being a True Artist.

Time

The laws got tougher so they got smarter.

Different views of the minds surrounding the youth.

Plotting and scheming those who are innocent too.

Leave them be, devil of the dirt. You're the one that will end up hurt.

Keep trying to change back ways of old and see if God doesn't burn you in a hole.

Your body is a reflection of how you feel. Take heed, take heed and produce a will.

Stay calm throughout everything in life and breathe in deep with all your might.

Think once, think twice you may be wrong. Let it all build under the sun.

Have a nice night, some may say when it all seems to be in the way.

Untwisted

Untwisted

Laying in the arms of a man who cares would bring absolutely no despair.

Captivating, altering without even trying; a Godly man is worth finding.

Something untwisted in a cold, cruel world:

Can mend the heart of a broken-hearted girl.

Once love is found it can be gladly bound.

Holding on tightly without the mount. Blessed be oh crooked one.

We shall all pray for peace in the woods. Make your way forward..? I plea no more.

Like a knife dagger that's been attached to the sore.

It's undying deceit can confuse and make weak the minds of the blessed ones to be.

Unjustified man who can you become..? Breaking hearts without a gun.

Go on, go on play games with no one. No man or woman should see that sort of fun.

Changes

Changes happen whether it's liked or not.

It's what you do with the time on the clock.

Stick with what you know; so they say but life happens outside of your comfort zone.

Mold and mold from what's known.

Keep your eyes on personalized gold.

Level the mind with all the free-time and realign to make projects shine.

Don't get off track with those on the mack. Let them talk and watch you walk.

Always smile and let the rest remain and everything will work out one day.

Carry On

Tell those lies, old master of doom. Remember those above already know you.

Try and try to keep secrets as close as the moon is to the dark sky,

Yet it will unravel soon. When the sunset arises to brighten the dock;

it's never a good idea to go on and mock.

Think the Gods don't know..? Think again..

Step in the homeless mans shoes, begging for a piece of bread.

You should be careful with your actions, they mean more than words and the finer things on a platter.

Once more - the unseen is like wearing hidden gold on a belt only you know.

Take your time young soldier of the Forrest

We shouldn't hasten quickly to those that bore us.

Senses

If you know before you do

why would you if it would be a possible issue.

Keep playing on in your circle of crew, one day God will find you.

Something has been mentioned within the land that is bad enough to make any man mad.

Don't let the silence steer you wrong, watching movement is part of the song.

Stares and glares from a mile away

Can make you think what did I do today....?

Always know the body and senses go hand in hand like a bow on a present.

Healing

Music heals or music can kill.

Sometimes it's all a matter of will.

Keeping it together can all be hard but praying can stop the mind from beating on the wall.

Leave it be what you can't control and mold, mold mold everything you know.

Growing is what life is about when you may feel stuck on the mount.

Drink one beer, then drink two; there's no telling what you might do.

One liquid leads to another, you end up drowning yourself in a pool of slumber.

Pray, pray and pray for things to be okay and one day life will leave you with nothing to say.

Life Chains

The dawn of the day makes for hope within the chains.

Life continues to roll on through, even though some may doubt you.

Always believe in yourself and the rest will follow through.

As the colors in the skies change, so shall your mood.

Allow prayer to follow and faith will enter too.

Things always seem to change once you get use to a certain way so always move around with thankfulness in the brain.

See Through

Whatever life may throw at you, smile anyway and know love's true.

Once in a while someone comes along, to show you a much, much different song.

Hold on tight your beliefs within and see if love doesn't become your friend.

Attachments come and they may go but the one that stays will be gracely bold.

Don't let the talk around town bring you down

When the one whose with you is showing abound.

Keep close the relationship and see when everything may flip.

Always love those who love you too and get rid of all else that does bad to you.

Forgetting

It's hard to say that times have changed.

You never know with love what it can bring.

Forgiving in the sense of walking away, brings more peace than what's known on any given day.

Forgetting isn't easy and it may not can be done.

Lessons were learned and the heart has unfortunately been burned.

Trust was once there but now it's long gone.

It's a blessing to finally, finally be done.

No more second chances for the soul is at ease,

it was once thought of that it could bring the peace.

It can never be replaced once actions are viewed right at face value straight under the moon.

Count your blessings so they say but how do you know what those are when attitudes change throughout the day;

Confusion arises at the very peak but always remind the mind to stay humble and meak.

Compression

When the arrays above change the mind-frame you huddle, don't fight the terms just take it past the slumber.

Don't live in the past but cherish the present,

that's wrapped in a bow to take steps to the future.

Keep faith found and both feet on the mount looking up to the sky rather than down below to the ground.

Some love lost makes room for love gained

When love turns evil, put it to rest by putting away.

Some things change and that's okay when the brighter days are ahead to gain. Devil may play games but God is ahead everyday,

When all else seems to fail it's best to sit and Pray.

Viability

Ease the mind of all things bad, exercising demons to avoid being mad.

Allowing the dawn of the day to push happiness away,

can make days hard where nothing seems to change.

One day at a time so they say,

keeping priorities straight to pave the way.

Encourage differences to add creativeness can open imagination to a broader playlist.

Nothing wrong with adding spunk to get the rest off of the bunk.

Inspire to motivate and become non-dissolute brings purpose to meaning and vice versa to you.

Endure

Have faith in belief that soon you will see the miracles you ask for that's hidden underneath.

Wrapped in fantasies, not being able to conquer them could seem like death in red linen sheets.

Stars above and sunshine sparkles give good vibes better than staying inside.

Apprehending the mind to try and rewind time brings nothing but headaches that yet ascend to the sign.

Keeping certain thoughts in should almost never be done to create possibly less sin so the mind can be un-strung.

Self-frustrations can cause isolation

but yoga could definitely bring back the focus.

IceBox

Quickly fading; coming to an end, reminds the mind of the undying sin.

Never knowing true intentions; unravels mostly in conversation.

Keep straight the path that leads to light;

when everything seems to turn into a fight.

Leave it be and let it go what isn't meant to be that turns so cold.

Lies come around way too soon

when the darkness around the moon comes to a closure right along with you.

Bother not around petty mess, noone has time for that bs.
