

The Greatest Lost

Jayda

Presented by

My poetic Side

Dedication

Thank you Nini... i never understand the full concept of love and everything that came with it until we met, not until after we departed shortly...

About the author

I\\'ve been writing for a couple years now, and it seems like with every year i seem to add another chapter to my life

summary

Why?

Straight Face Long Tears

Traumatized

Wasted Toxins

Fatal Attraction

Million Questions

Experiences

Signs of Depression

Depressing Thoughts

How Much Is Your Love?

The Greatest Lost

Ashamed

Repercussions

2 Years Ago

Why?

Why do I allow this to happen
Weakened without you
Impossible without you
Why do I allow this to happen
To pretend not to care
To pretend not to show emotion
Deep inside I'm weakened without you
Though the days are hard without you I cry
Weakened by the days I spend without you by my side
Some people think to just let go and give in
To seek love from the weak, when I want you again
To be without you, to truly be without you is nearly impossible
Just tell me you love me
Whisper it to me softly you love me
Not that I be satisfied, but that you should love me back?
Whatever it is I can do
Tell me, tell me, so my actions can prove the words I say is true
That I cannot spend another lonely day without you

Straight Face Long Tears

The more I try to hold it in, the deeper it's tearing me apart
She brought back symptoms of love, I gave her symptoms of a broken heart
The more I just sit and stare, the longer the tears seem to flow
And when I seem to be at my best is when in hurting the most
And when I see the lone stars, and when I see how "happy" life is
It brings me back to the time where the love we once built
To say I love you is underrated, but forever it could last
And when I think of your heart, I shed tears from the past
But when I see your long smile I wonder is it true and indeed
To once be told never let a good girl go, I wish I could of took heive
The long tears that came down, a smile that was erased
I remember later and tears now a deep hollow sound fills the place
We once we're, we once could
My word should of stood
Never let a good girl go the pains is way misunderstood

Traumatized

Traumatized by the words that I never said
By the things that I never did
All the unspoken words
Tell me your feelings and why I didn't consider yours
Why I thought to bring you to tears
Thinking of all the things we did and all the things you experience
Don't settle just let go cause all of you I don't deserve
You deserve all of me but all of you is what I had
Tell me, tell me did I put you at your worst
Can you love or is it numb, just tell me your feelings
Eyes watery as you tilt your head to the ceiling
Fighting back words, fighting back tears, fighting for love
So anxious to get your attention and pour out my love
Some mistakes we live with, some mistakes help us grow
To tell you I love you, now you'll never know
So enclosed awareness and guarded up against love to never know how to feel
Tell me do you know how to trust
So many lies with so many promises
So many words with no actions
Things will surely come to the light
Why does the heavy weight feel so light
Why does it yet weigh down on me
To have me think I could bring you back to me
Traumatized, traumatized, traumatized
Filled your head with questions and lies
All the things aren't as bad as it seems or bad things aren't as it seems
In held so many emotions you don't know
Whether to cry out loud or hold in your screams
But to you I truly wish the best
So many unread messages and deleted texts
Feeling for your love and your sex
Lord don't let her experience anybody as her ex
Don't fall for it

Don't be another victim

Such a beautiful woman that's been hurt for so long

The road ahead of you just seems to be going on for too long

All the weak emotions with such a strong woman

Wasted Toxins

Wasted toxins, filling my head with nonsense
Most of it traumatizing
Mind rolled in pills without realizing
Toxins, toxins, filling my head with unclear messages
Unclear thoughts, sometimes reminiscing
Substantial amounts of toxins
Fill my mind with such a boost, a high that lifts me and makes me feel so low
A place where nobody goes or wants to know
In such a monotone manner, your words like
Hidden messages wrapped up in my mind
So much love with such a cold heart
Such a bright beginning with a bad start
Toxins, toxins, toxins, lift me from the problems I seem to face
Some things cannot be erased or I cannot escape
Take me on a trip to the open gates
Where hell freezes over, where my mind has its own place
All the wasted, wasted toxins
All filled in space

Fatal Attraction

Fatal attraction is common
With you I seemed so hooked
My love for you is like a fairytale in a book
So unreal, like nothing you ever seen before
But your looks, that smile, all those things I used to adore
Get over and move past, or be down to your last
But the time is yet gone, my heart is like glass
So enclosed, so close, the pain seems to hurt
Now that you're gone, I'm down to my worst
To give up I could never do, because my heart, it wanted you
So many apologies, to right my wrongs I could never do
I'm sorry, but it is way past, I hope you can learn to love
And when you give someone your all then no one will ever come above

Million Questions

I have so many questions to ask
I don't know if my accusations are true
But somehow, I couldn't find a way to get over you
Too much time to reminisce, too much time to sit and stare
At every lonely moment I'm wishing you was here
So many times that I have cried, so many days I laid there awake
Your loving's dangerous, just give my heart a break
No amount of apologies could ever take away all the pain I've seem to create
Everything that seemed to go wrong was my mistake
Are you happy, or have you ever found relief
Is love still on your mind or do you even believe
Have you ever mentioned my name, or do you think of me
Are you stuck on love, or have you been set free
My feelings are the only things that aren't destroyed, except me
That's why I think about you so constantly...
A million question to you from me

Experiences

These many experiences so much lost and the regret
To push love past the point of a bet
Your love can't compare nothing to the average
Too much on my mind, in my head I hold baggage
The thoughts of the first time I ever loved
The first time I truly used my heart
Broke me down to the bone, never knowing how to start
Never knowing how to explain, I didn't know how to love
But for you I would never put no one above
How do I explain, a love that's stronger than a friendship
A love that's stronger than the love for someone so ordinary
Your love felt so magically, it was so imaginary
Never temporary, the thoughts of it forever lasting
To my heart I held the pain
But in my mind I felt the blasting
I felt the pain that I couldn't imagine physically
Tell me what did I do for you to be so into me
What did you do for me to be so stuck on you
Just to lay, just to kiss, just the gentle feel of your lips
How the hell did I fall so hard with just one kiss
With just one time, just one night, just so many emotions gathered
But to get rid of your love my heart just shattered
This is beyond love, beyond lust, I was just stuck
To say that I love you and that you'll never trust
My heart you couldn't look into, you just didn't see where you went wrong
I used to long for your love once again
Just to hear your voice on the phone
Life's crazy and comes with so many things we don't expect
I gave my whole life dedicated to you in return for nothing left
I had nothing left, I put everything on the line, just to get your heart back
Unable to breathe, unable to speak, much like a heart attack
Much like a heart ache, a tummy ache, it felt so heavy
My love so strong, the weakest moments made me feel so crazy

2 years of mourning, 2 years of wishing for better
The bruise struck me deep
Never thought I could get better
I never imagined the days where I could stop the insane thoughts
The insane placed my mind took me
Your love wrapped around my mind and hooked me
So much sympathy, felt like I loved you so much
Even when I wanted to let go it felt like my heart would crush
Now these thoughts seem to be a reminder, a reminder
Never to put your heart past the point of return
You get what you give, so I never got nothing in return
I gave you sadness with a mixture of only the things I knew
In my mind I loved you so much, but I never deserved you
It was too fast, the process should have been slower
The process should have been in steps
I felt sadder than I ever had when I had less
You felt so high up, you felt like someone only within dreams
And to realize even the greatest things aren't as good as it seems
You can pretend to be happy but it'll never compare to the true feeling
Your love brought me faith and all your heart needed was healing
So many apologies, so many things I told myself I would never say
But your love has too much of a hold on me
You told me you was here to stay
I thought that meant through whatever
I thought that was through the worst
But to realize you couldn't stay if I did wrong and put you through a hurt
If I put you past your breaking point, then you could never return
And if I was to ever lose you, then I would finally learn
I would finally change my ways, that I would finally grow
And that I would eventually know how to love
But in order to get past the process, I had to feel the same hurt
The same crushed feeling
The same sad cries
To see how it felt to be fed all these lies
Karma comes and lessons are learned
If you do wrong, the process will be long learned

To fix your broken heart the love you will have to earn
And if I found your love I know it would be hard
I would never make my way in
Cause the thoughts that run through my head aren't well thought out
I'm so wrapped up in so many memories, I don't know how to think things out
I got to react the right way and from the past I can't return back to you
If I would of waited instead of rushed
If I was to slow down and give you time
Things would have been better and I would never have to lie
Love is a strong feeling, it's the hardest feeling to over come
No matter how much I say I'm done my heart will forever feel numb
So dumb to the fact that I didn't know how to feel without your love
Not smart enough to move past and regain enough
I couldn't stop the thoughts
I couldn't stop my mind from wondering
In a soul so sacred, I always seemed to keep plundering
I didn't know how to say the words without being so blunt
I didn't know how to explain without being so open
Your love came with damage and I never seemed to consider that you wasn't ready
You wasn't ready to speak I just cared about one thing
The one thing you wasn't sure about
The sex, was never my thoughts
Just to give you quality time and never over talk or pout
To move past, to stop being stubborn to realize I can't just sit here and ruin
Told myself what the hell are you doing
Why won't you let go, why are you so stuck in this phase
Just the thought of a possibility of your love I went straight for it
I went out of all means to achieve
But you had the opposite reaction, and told me to leave
You told me to just move on
And I thought maybe I could heal if I left you alone
I was too scared to let you go, too afraid of someone loving you better than I did
But the stingy thoughts put me in the mindset of a kid
It put me in the mindset to be selfish and that thought of you not achieving happiness
So tell me what's a long relationship without the stages of sadness
It takes a lot of work, it takes time and patience

But I never realized that, so in my head I went crazy
My thought process was lazy, trying to find loopholes, the easiest way out
But I found you, yet you found me and I found a way out
I found love and the quickest moment I lost it
So tell me if your love was so great
How the hell did I find a way to be without it
Trials and tribulations, these are just the thoughts of the strong lover
Never to compare my first love to such a distant lover

Signs of Depression

Loud cries, red eyes hidden in the darkest nights
The signs of depression seem to come to the light
To ashamed to cry, to afraid to feel
Cause being in love was once my biggest fears
To scared to fall, to fall I could never do
But my depression never seem to keep me from loving you
Such a relief off my heart
Such a love I never obtained
The love stuck to me, took ahold of my brain
Sometimes I couldn't speak
I just wish I could explain
It was either let go of you or go insane
I chose to hold on, I chose to continue my love
But not purposely but my heart wouldn't let me detach
My heart wouldn't let you hurt alone
So tell me am I crazy or am I scared to leave you alone
The signs of depression, the signs they never seen
I'm blind to love, only to fall in my dreams

Depressing Thoughts

You ever been depressed so much that you can't even breathe
My visions become the actions that I speak
Easy but I never meant to do it intentionally
My mind crazy thoughts, it just seems to get in between
My love life so wrapped up on all the things I've seen
You never realize the hurt to its degree
You never seem to see the vision
Never see the things I see
Outside so strong but inside I'm so weak
Tell me why I think about you so constantly
Tell me why I can't get you off my mind, I can't even speak
To envision you I can never ever see
Life's hard the highest mountain I can't even reach
My hearts cold, take away all the negativity
I share my love with you? But them things you could never see
I loved you the most but I'm the one you've hated
You used to love me
I'm the one that love you the most
But me? No you can't envision it
But I'm stuck on you doing all these crazy things
Putting pieces together trying to get over the thought
Trying to undo what's done but I took you for granted
The thins I did I can never undo
The things I did I can never take back
And you was stuck on my mind
Wish I could take it all back
I wish I could go back to the start and never do the things I did
But I did, I did do what I did
I did all the things you was scared of being done
But you loved me
You love everything about me
Now you sitting here thinking what to do without me
But it's all good, but your heart

You can't take them things away
Now I'm sitting here mind blown
Hoping everything's going to be ok
I just need to go back in time, I just need to go back to that day
When you once loved me
And everything was ok
And everything was all good
By my side you always stood close
That's where I needed you the most Crazy thoughts in my head, I think I loved you the most
But you showed it a little better
Just thinking of all the times when we was still together
In the past, but it's the future
Now my words seem so stupid
I know we won't ever speak again
But when you hear this you'll always know that this is about you
So close to my heart lays an empty soul
Never thought I could live without you

How Much Is Your Love?

How far does your love extend
You tell me you love me, if I say that I hate you will your love end
Will you just leave it where it's at
Or will you try to make things up
If I tell you it's over will you try to stay
Or would you say you can't go without my love
How far does your love extend
If this is my last breath
Tell me you wouldn't let me go, and regardless of time
Tell me you won't go
Tell me what I want to hear
No tell me what I want to know
Things that make me wonder
Things that make my heart ache
Tell me our love is endless and you won't ever make my heart break
You don't want to see me down
No you won't let me get that far
But how far does your love extend
Will you up and leave tomorrow
Will your feelings just change or are you here to stay forever
Because on the cloudiest days you can still feel warm weather
Tell me you love me and you mean it, nobody can ever change that
And if I was to leave this earth my love will still be here to stay
No matter how far the distance, my love will never fade away
How far does your love extend?

The Greatest Lost

My deepest sympathy, my love life is over, I know that I have nothing left
And based on this statement this breakup was my deepest regret
I can't even sleep, my mind telling me there's so many things that are incomplete
The mistakes I've made I would never repeat
Reflecting back on everything that happened, all the ways I never approached
I wish I could've found my love and gave her the letters I wrote
So many paragraphs, and forwarded messages
I should've delivered myself
By the selfishness is the reason I'm by myself
You have feelings too, your heart hurts too
I should've thought of that before I ever hurt you
Love cannot be bought material things never matter
In the end if I would've treated you right our love life would've never shattered
Too stupid to just stick with the one I considered my all
That's how every relationship has its downfalls
Too greedy, I could never handle one when her love was just enough
Love will make you feel sick all the way down to your guts
It'll make you feel so many symptoms that's far past a heartache
Just know I never meant for your heart to break
Too obsessed, too stuck, too in love
Too sprung, so high up off your love
So many things I've always been ashamed to say
All the hidden secrets must come out today
I was so foolish and I think all these words should be said
My actions seem to be the only thing I dread
Now it's so hard for me to even go to bed
I'll never find someone who loved me as much as you did
The simple apologies from the mindset of a kid
I'm left with many memories and the days we shared
Every time I spend time with someone else I envision you was here
I'm the one to blame, and I'll take all the blame
The list of lies is such a shame
My greatest lost was losing you

March 13 will never be remembered the same
I hope you find closure, I'll take the blame
Like your love? No I will never find another
Sincerely your Former lover

Ashamed

So many lies I tell myself late at night
So ashamed of my past I cry
The fake smile like a sweet lullaby
Late night thoughts drain every part in the inside
How could I disrespect you in such a manner?
Why did I ever give a kiss to such a stranger?
Didn't stop to think, that's what put our love in danger
I know you could never find the answer to the question
Why did I lie just to skip the discussion?
I kissed her, I walked around like I was right
My conscious ate me up, I could never cover up what's right
Long day thinking, late night dreaming
You're away at a party, and everyone's feening
You made a decision, so much trust I put in you
You said "I'd never do anything to hurt you"
The reason you never portrayed me
The reason you stayed so true
In this lifetime I never did anything to deserve you
I made that promise to fulfill your needs
To ashamed to say I never did a good deed
I made a promise and I told you your hearts safe
Why did you believe me?
So disturbed by my ways
But to this day and next to the other
I wish I could've loved you
Instead of portrayal for another

Repercussions

There's so many repercussions when you decide to make a decision
This time however I never cared about that vision
I did indeed do and pursued what I felt like I should have Now the onlookers look at me and laugh
So many others waited for me to make such a foolish choice
They wanted so they could step in Such lustfully filled onlookers that just wanted what they couldn't have
And I fell for their tricks now I only could feel sad
I should disregarded what others said, I should've never fell for the trap
We was never intended to last, everyone wanted you back
For us to end, would be the only way to satisfy, but if I stuck to my word
I would never have to lie, we could've lasted forever
And I would never have to say goodbye
But every choice has its consequences
Every choice has its repercussions
It's better to stay with your love then to end up with nothing

2 Years Ago

Two years ago, so many months behind
Chasing after you, a dreadful feeling of mine
Unable to be in control, unable to control your actions
I tried to regain control without asking
Two years ago, and just a couple weeks back
I panicked because I just let my heart relax
I kept thinking about you, and I kept thinking about me
I can't force something to work, if it's not my destiny
My words was smooth, but my actions were cruel
I led you to believe I would never hurt you
What a fool, what a fool
Two years of being stuck on you
Don't listen to the nonsense
Don't believe everything you here
Just because you say forever don't mean the love will stay there
Too much on my mind, too dumb to just let go
Obsessing over you, trying to get back to you
I don't know what I was thinking
But now I understand what it was
Addicted to the lustful thoughts
Instead of focusing on love
I gave you great pains
I gave you things you never asked for
I wished I did all the things I intended to do
But instead I kept chasing you
The first time I ever been obsessed
The first time I ever been stuck
So many times I asked myself say what
What are you doing?
What are you thinking?
Why haven't you changed?
How do you expect to get her back?
If you stayed the same

So stupid, so cruel when it came to thoughts
My name never ran across your brain
You was way past the idea of making it work
I was left with all the hurt
You suffered, but I ended up hurting in the end
Everything that once stood tall all had to come to an end
So many days I wanted to cry
So many days I wanted to stay locked in my room
The smell like your sweet perfume
No kiss like yours
No softer feel then your lips
I dread the way I think, because you I still miss
I've been everywhere
I've been in and out
Not knowing if I'm crazy
Because I said with you, I couldn't live without It's killing my pride
It's killing my soul
The final moments of me letting go
Don't judge me from where I been Just judge me from where I'm at
I know you don't love me no more
But I wanted the feelings to be as mutual as that Most of the things are true
The things that I was accused of Falling in love with the one I was scared of
The one that I just wanted to be friends with Everything had to end
Everything just happened so sudden
These tears from my eyes
Makes the lines to your heart flooded
I know I cannot understand
I may not ever believe
That I have to let go in order to heal too
But I chose to play the role of a fool
So here's a reminder

Here's a reminder never to forget
I may not have you anymore but the memories will still exist
Two years ago I learned how to love
I also learned how to manage
I was terrible, and I never planned it
I wouldn't know what love is if I invented it
I just needed a shoulder, I just needed something to lean on Your love I always seem to feel for Now I finally understand why you left me for
2 Years Ago...