

Anthology of Stephanie Marriane Davies

Stephanie Marriane

Presented by

My poetic Side

Dedication

To everyone that struggles with life.

Acknowledgement

I\\'d like to thank all the people that have used and abused me, broken my heart and tried to destroy. You never did, I\\'m still here and stronger than ever before.

I\\'d like to send out my unconditional love to my children. Autumn Kayleigh and Zakk.

A special mention to my fiance Rich xxx

About the author

Struggled through life..battled and overcome.

Loner , Anxiety sufferer ,animal lover, pagan heart , history castles dark things .

Big heart , open mind and introvert .

summary

Ink Splattered Skies

The Zoo

Ink Splattered Skies

I gaze upon an ink splattered sky. A lone black bird gifts me with a sunset melody. Sitting here trying to figure out where I went wrong ,feelings of sadness and sorrow over shadowing a happy song.

I walk through the trees,as they whisper sweet nothings , rustling of leaves ,making shadow dances on the mossy woodland floor. I wonder alone, Why am I here?In a life of heartbreak loneliness and fear!

Its dark now, I gaze to the skies Clear as the artic ice, on the bluest of days. Cold air breeze blows gently through my hair, as I count the stars ,twinkling brightly up there. Its amazing to think we are looking up at the past, I step evermore forward, I feel a icy blast .

This is where it ends, that neverending pain, at peace with nature,never to be seen again. As I fade away to black, into the frozen lake, I hear the calling of a owl, a majestic creature of the night , hunting in the bright moonlight.

Good bye world. I've lost my fight, under ink splattered clouds ,with the black birds song, don't be sad about me leaving, it's a blessing to me. At peace with the stars ,I'm happy now as can be .

The Zoo

The Zoo

I am crying Yet no-one can hear I am dying yet no-one can see Why is there nobody looking at me?

I fake a smile I utter a line I put on a act Of course i am just fine .

Please look deeper I am calling out for you I am now scared and tired I am trapped in my Zoo

I can not escape I can not breath I wait for the day Watching people grieve.

Do not feel guilty yet i did try and tell But now at least i have escaped from my personnel Hell.