Your happiness

happiness is a beautiful thing,you have laughter and love, feeling as if your above.

When your sad or upset, sometimes your life seems to be a regret. Lots of those people I seem to have met, just remember I love you, don't ever forget!.

With you I'll forever be with you and me, it's love I truly do see, forever I know we'll always be.

Being good friends is where we all began.

Years went by, that's when I got attached, that's when we realized we were a great match!

Our home is warm, family is everything, to bigger and better is where we'll grow forever together.

A soldier I see

As I watched you get older,so much you held on your shoulders,you are one of the strongest soldiers I watched over.

Even when you should have been weak, so many wise words I've heard you speak, and without help did you seek.

Your spirit with me forever I'll keep.

Social anxiety within me

just as I walk in, I start to breathe in, not sure where to begin, so many people, it's quite unbelievable unbelievable, my heart racing, face hot, everything I was going to say I already forgot, I'm nervous and someone says something to me I just wish they would let me be it's that social anxiety that's taken over me!

My big brother

To my brother

You're the one I really do trust your friendship is a very big must. Even when times are tough and I know you can handle your own, I will never let you stand alone. I love you with each and every one of my bones.

You have a heart of gold that can never be sold, this I'm sure you've never been told.

When you need me, I'm here through thick and thin you're that brother that I would never want any other.

Our friendship and loyalty makes us as brother and sister royalty.

Even when we have nothing we have the best thing, that's you and me we call each other siblings.

Brother I love you I'm always here and always near never fear!

I always will care nothing you do will turn me against you. Big brother I love you!

Proud of what's within

Feeling so proud,feeling as if i`m doing so well, I've finally gotten myself out of my shell.
Looking to see myself finally stand up,never again wanting to allow myself to give up.
Noticing all I have gained,not letting others no more bring me down,finally feeling as if I opened a door I have always hoped for.
Proud of myself and how far I have come, feeling above, I must say this is the life I really do love.

Everyday

When I see the morning mist, the rain slowly tapping down, grabbing down my warm coat, walking with my cleaning tote, today's a good day so I could hope. Every new day there's a new role, we all must have to play. Some being busy, some pretty slow, just have to manage each days flow. Just have to get up and give it a go.

Friendships far or near no matter how far we may be,

Its love for one another is what I'll always see.

I just want my friend to be happy and free.

My love is with you for eternity.

You smiling, being so happy and that's just what I always love to see. This is why our friendship may always be. near or far even without a car, I'm just a simple call away. I just pray everyday that smile may never fade away.

Writing is the way

Writing with so many thoughts,
Just keeps going until they stop.
It's like shopping within your Brain and heart,
You just know where they need to start, after you begin, it's just Amazing what you write in.
It could be, a story, a note, a letter,
Maybe a little altogether.
Writing is a wonderful way to get out
Just what it is you really want to say,
I've never came across any other great way!

Parents

Parents are the most important people in our lives, parents are always by your side, being life's guide through all we do.

There's never any greater love than your parents, always walk by their side, be there whenever they need a helping hand, someone to talk to, a shoulder to lean on and just need a friend.

Always show them your there and always care till the very end. Let them know as much as possible that you love them and appreciate them, no matter what we ever go through we're going together, their love and care is here forever!

Always holding on every time I look at you, realizing all we've actually been through.

All those of memories we've had whether good or bad, so many things together we've accomplished, pushing one another to strongly get through, even when neither of us had any clue what we as one were going to even do.

You and I by one another's side, all these years, even through thick and thin, not even sure if we would have gotten through as much as we did, never doubting each other's trust, us together was a must.

We learned to stay strong, pushing each other along, all this time we've conquered holding on gave us the strongest bond, we learned it's the best love from way beyond, remember I'm staying right here holding on to you, over and beyond, we will always make it, you and I through every day's struggles and achievements.

Hurting my heart

From our very beginning, I felt there was a meaning, as time slowly progresses on, I knew it was worth our love to keep moving on and that's when we gained the best of bond.

Years went by, we had our struggles, ups and downs, together we held our ground, you were my everything.

You've now hurt me over and over, lie after lie, as every day has gone by, you watch me cry and hurt day after day, all I do is pray that all this will fade away, prayers won't help, you leave me lonely, no worry or care and it's really unfair.

No more ever telling me I'm beautiful, how I make you the happiest man in the world, no more holding me close, smiling down at me saying I'm your everything, as I feel like I mean something to you, now all you do is lie repeatedly to my face, looking at me as if I'm a disgrace, I'm hurting because I love a man who is not who I once loved so much in the world, I love you forever but I can't hurt and be left so sad and lonely, if only you knew how I'm feeling so sad, showing me you cared at least a little tad, how doesn't it make you feel at least a smidge bad? I have a heart and feelings, and I want to move on happy living. without you may just be my new beginning.

Our godsend blessings blessings do happen, it's true when we hear God does things for a reason.

so Dont ever give up, especially on your biggest hopes, just getting through the most important things in our lives, fighting forward, with our strongest might there is a blessing at the end of that every last fight.

When we seem things in our lives are getting to their worst , they probably are, just know this is god's hardest tests, being some of the biggest life obstacles thrown at us, knowing we all have that extra fight, the more struggles and obstacles thrown at us keeping all hope,never give up there is some greatest award at the end.

No matter what the award may be,they will be the ones you never thought could or would be, or even did see.

You just keep staying strong, conquering on, the whole time holding on. Don't ever let yourself fully fall, just gotta stand tall, there and then, the best of blessing stand there for you at the very end,never letting yourself give in.

Leaving you to a happier and healthier life's end, that's what we call our greatest god sends.

Being fine out to shine!??

The thing about you is there could never be two, your special and have not a clue!
Your soul is one of a kind, everything will be just fine, go and let yourself shine!

Appreciated

ITs not me wanting to be praised,
I just wanna know I'm acknowledged.

The things I do for another is just appreciated, everyone should feel appreciation for their good deeds,just knowing you worked so hard to put a smile on someone's face, to do something no one else would do for them, leaving you feeling happy, they were thought of.

To not even get a thank you, after you just wanted them to know your there and care will break a person down.

Step back look at all the wonderful deeds you done for a person,or a person has done for you, even no smile,thank you or even that acknowledgement we've waited to see, believe me someone out there does see.

Appreciation is way more than most people do see,just keep on being that best of person you know you can be!

Us together forever

wishing all your pain fade away. Forever right here I'll always be, even when we're stuck in misery. Us together our bond so tight, a love that's forever, and as a team that will always fight with all our might, never giving up, always remember it's me and you together forever as 1, and I love you a whole ton!!

Smiles

sit tight, smile bright, it's you I love to watch at night. The moon just shining is another delight, I will love you with all my might, never letting you sit in fright. i will protect you and direct you through every morning light.
