

Kin 183 : Blue Magnetic Night

Elohim Tzabaoth

Presented by

My poetic Side

Dedication

I dedicate this book to the very reason that I started to get back into following my hearts desires.

She has inspired me so deeply that I have re-dedicated my intent to always having fervor and zest for anything that resonates with my Soul.

Acknowledgement

I owe a great deal of gratitude to my very own Divine Female Goddess. None of this would have ever came to fruition if she hadnt intervened.

About the author

A very enigmatic , inquisitive , eccentric , and emotionally intelligent Soul who lives vicariously through everything and everyone in order to fully OVERSTAND the gravity of this incarnation.

summary

Home

Home

As I sit and contemplate every detail about you from the very minute to the most important, I have solace. A tranquil embrace from your Soul to mine forever immortalized in the library of my memories. Everything that makes you the beautiful person that you are is deeply etched in the star dust that drives me toward my hearts desires. All of the things that you are comprised of remind me of a place that I hold dear. The qualms, the inflections of speech in tone and timber, the manurisms, all of the personality traits that are innate to you resonate immensely with every fiber of my being. For that I am grateful and elated, because the place I hold so dear has been merged with you My Moon, the reason why my path is so brightly lit.