My Life IsA Storm

My heart wages a war of torture and lust
I just want someone I truly can trust
I dream one day of a heart so pure
Is there a good soul out there, I am sure

I think of my father
His strength and care
His feelings for us he never did share
Alone I sat in my bed at night
Wondering if my parents would talk or fight

My mom seemed so meek, but at times was distressed
Every morning when she woke seemed a test
She hardly smiled and always looked sad
Was her life really that bad?

My siblings are far and I never see
Is that God's will for me?
They seem to not know me, maybe it's best
Negative people kill the joy, the zest

I do have to say the joy is my son
Everytime I am with him, we always have fun
His smile, his laughter, the way he looks
Even in the kitchen the way he cooks
God has really blessed me through all the despair
Causing looking in his eyes, I know God is there

God Blesses Me

Every morning when I awake
Unsure about what the day will bring
Not sure how much determination it will take
To keep the joy in my heart that makes me want to sing
When problems arise, they seem to come in groups
Sometimes I feel like I am jumping through hoops
By the end of the day I am tired and confused
My body feels drained and overused
I asked God for strength to make it through
He speaks to my heart, "Child, I am here for you Hold on to me when you feel you are going under
I control the weather in your life and I can stop the thunder
As I sleep for the night peaceful and free
Truly amazed at how much God truly blesses me

Miracles Happen

Everyday I wonder how
God shows people right here and now
Miracles do exist
When God speaks to them, they do not resist
Trusting that he know what is best
Their faith is now put to the test
In the darkest hour came a light
God gave them peace and let them know they were never out if his sight
Those stories are real and I know for a fact
God saved me many times from death and it was never an act
I spared from AIDS, bullets and from going insane
God came in the nick of time and healed my brain
I was loved and nurtured during times of despair
Sometimes I felt nobody would care
But God showed me he doesn't make waste
I began to feel different.. every smell... every taste
My body healed and stronger I became
Honestly, something amazing happened because I do not feel the same
I appreciate life and know good things wait ahead
I am blessed by God to not be dead

My body healed and stronger I became
Honestly something miraculous happened because I do not feel the same

God , You Love Me

I get up every morning with a promise everyday
Hoping to do the right things and always the kind words to say
Without thinking I sometimes slip and out act out of gear
I don't always give the best impression I fear
But I realize you are unique
The kind of man I need to seek
To show me how to handle times when tense
How to stay calm and make better sense
You show me love through it all
And help me to understand feeling at ease to take down my wall
You are here to accept me despite when I fall
No matter the situation or what people may say
I seek to please the wrong people in the wrong way
I lose who I am sometimes and not sure why
But I know you know who I am and that your son for me did die
I am able to admit I can sometimes be a mess
But I know in my heart God you love me no less

Everyday is a brand new day

Everyday is a brand new day
Refuse to listen to the negative things people may say
Everyday is a brand new day with God
People will discourage and put you down
Say you are different or just really odd
Call you names and say you are just a clown
Take heart and believe one day you will go
Where perfection is real and endless love you will know
A place of peace and acceptance for all
Be ready to leave when our master will call

Always In My Heart

Everyday starts a new
With thoughts and wishes to see you
To talk about the way things use to be
And teaching new lessons everyday to me
Showing me simple life is good
Seeing you walking barefooted in the garden if only I could
The way you suffered at the end
My healthy body to you I would gladly lend
Just to see you one more day from the start
Telling you " I love you" and you will always be in my heart

I Will Go On

Many struggles will I face
Believing in myself you will never erase
You may strip me of my heart
But I will rebound and make a fresh start
Pain is something I have learned to endure
Loving and losing can hurt for sure
But never will I give up hope
Allow myself to spiral in a downward slope
Great things await me you will see
I will trust God and put my faith in thee
I shall never stop my quest
To make myself the very best
Each day starts with a brand new dawn
Through all my hardships I will go on

In Between

There are two roads in front of me you know
I thought for sure I knew the way to go
When as a child I dreamt of a traditional life
With a child, a home and of course a wife
That road quickly became bumpy and hard to steer
I felt I was in a fog and that would eventually become more clear
After three strikes with the opposite sex
I decided to steer myself onto a new road that seem to end with even more wrecks
I dated guys that I seemed to bore
My small town ways and my prideful talk about my son seemed dull to them for sure
In 2012 my life was drastically shook
I found it discouraging when walking past a mirror I would look
My mind was sometimes blank and my emotions were numb
I felt I was invisible and my words were just plain dumb
I tried to bargain with God and that can not be done
He understands me fully and knew that I was not having too much fun
I cried and I asked him, " Please I just want some peace"
My guilt of always falling short of perfection I want to release
Make me the man you want me to be
Is there a secret message that you are trying to send me
I am not trying to be ungrateful and sound mean
But this is torture when you are trying to adjust to a certain way of life and you emotions are in between
