Dear Happiness

Today

today, I don't know what is wrong a seed that don't know where to grow 17 seconds, caught in the red light tranquil in teary eyed

Yesterday

yesterday was not pale yet not as clear as open waters bobbing boats in a war, shouting calling for guidance in the sea of adulthood

Misplace

wondering where i placed goodness in their heart for they only found teaspoon of mistakes

Semi colon

she cries, sigh yesterday and does today
yet uttered "fighting" for she was countless

Marriage

lesson is married to despair while decision is to consequences happiness is to disappointment and success is to hardship

She again

in every triumph, disaster she faced she finds gratitude, leaving no moment erased with heart that's brave, spirit so free happy birthday to a soul as grateful as she

Dear Happiness

a broken toy that makes child hid and weep a cloud that conceals sun makes temporary shade why are you such that hope you find all people well
