Love is as much of an object as an obsession, everybody wants it, everybody seeks it, but few ever achieve it, those who do will cherish it, be lost in it, and among all, never... never forget it.

I believe that everything happens for a reason. People change so that you can learn to let go. Things go wrong so that you appreciate them when they're right. You believe lies so you eventually learn to trust no one but yourself, and sometimes good things fall apart so better things can fall together.

'Tis said of love that it sometimes goes, sometimes flies; runs with one, walks gravely with another; turns a third into ice, and sets a fourth in a flame: it wounds one, another it kills: like lightning it begins and ends in the same moment: it makes that fort yield at night which it besieged but in the morning; for there is no force able to resist it.

One would always want to think of oneself as being on the side of love, ready to recognize it and wish it well --but, when confronted with it in others, one so often resented it, questioned its true nature, secretly dismissed the particular instance as folly or promiscuity. Was it merely jealousy, or a reluctance to admit so noble and enviable a sentiment in anyone but oneself?

Madame, it is an old word and each one takes it new and wears it out himself. It is a word that fills with meaning as a bladder with air and the meaning goes out of it as quickly. It may be punctured as a bladder is punctured and patched and blown up again and if you have not had it does not exist for you. All people talk of it, but those who have had it are marked by it, and I would not wish to speak of it further since of all things it is the most ridiculous to talk of and only fools go through it many times.

Love is an expression and assertion of self-esteem, a response to one's own values in the person of another. One gains a profoundly personal, selfish joy from the mere existence of the person one loves. It is one's own personal, selfish happiness that one seeks, earns, and derives from love.

LONELINESS

RECONCILIATION

LONELINESS

WHEN BY MY SOLITARY HAVE I SIT AND HATEFUL THOUGHTS ENWRAP MY SOUL IN GLOOM;AND THE BARE
HEATH OF LIFE PRESENTS NO BLOOM,WHEN NO FAIR DREAM BEFORE MY MIND FLEET, OH GOD,LET ME
HEAR YOUR SOFT MIGHTY VOICE SPEAK ?

RECONCILIATION

I truly fail to understand
I do not know why my GOD
You decide to treat me thus
Worthy am not my GOD
That one I know for sure

No relieve I do find here
No treasure can repay my
Countless debts to my GOD
Said I owe you too much GOD
But you never will cease
Making me owe you more

As I trod far from the life
As I faced a death sentence
And again deserted you GOD
You never thought of giving-up
On a wretched sinner like me

What tribute do you deserve
What an adoration you need
How I wish had I a little faith
And I would live to please you
Please remember me in this
I must glorify you loving GOD
2 GOD B GLORY.SAY AMEN
